

A Family Story

It was just after Christmas when we, unexpectedly, found ourselves back in Toronto. Sylvain needed to start radiation, January 1st, 2007. It was early Monday morning, no one was there at Princess Margaret. We knew it was serious, we knew we'd be there for a while. The next day, Tuesday, we met with our social worker from SickKids, who set us up with a room at the Ronald McDonald House on Gerrard St. and with an interlink nurse from Sudbury, who would be able to support us in many different ways. She was there for us as the questions arose. She was also able to provide some financial relief. She sent us phone cards, gas checks, and grocery cards paid for by NOFCC which were all a tremendous help. With this money, we were able to live comfortably and make ourselves more comfortable while we were away from home. We are very grateful to the NOFCC, and all of its helpful people who provided some relief in very difficult and uncertain times.

Thank you! The NOFCC is an organization which offers some much needed peace of mind during very stressful times.

Very gratefully yours,
